Padua, Italy, July 25.—Tearing out his sweetheart's tongue because she had broken her promise to wait until he could marry her, brought death today to Francesco Vergani. Maddened by his deed, a crowd tied him to the heels of a horse and he was dragged two miles, every bone in his body being broken.

Eight years ago Vergani fell in love with Eloise Ferrari, who lived at Monselice. He went to America, after securing her promise. Learning she had wed another he returned in the guise of a traveling dentist and getting the girl into a chair at a fair, tore out her tongue with a pair of forceps.

SENSATION

PROMISED WHEN MRS. ELEANOR GLYN'S "THREE WEEKS" IS PRODUCED HERE.

She Entertains a Few Friends in London With Her Version of the Famous Book.

London, July 25.—Details of the sub-cellar production of the dramatized version of "Three Weeks" with the authoress, Eleanor Glyn, in the title of the queen, are leaking out today and the indications are that the production which James K. Hackett will give in America will be about the most sizzling dramatic effort since the days of "Sappho," "Zaza," and "The Turtle." Mrs. Glyn's effort yesterday in the Adelphi theatre was for the exclusive edification of her own circle of friends. Even the friends, however, have not been able today to restrain their desires to tell how awful the production was. According to those members of the inner circles of the authoress' acquaintanceship, the stage has not been robbed during the years the hectic-haired writer has restrained her histrionic inclinations. All the gushing love-making and the innocent billing and cooing of the novel have been intensified and enlarged on to last through four loosely constructed acts. The famous tiger skin rug furnished the piece de resistance of the stage setting and most of the action of the play takes place within the boundaries of the rug. Unintentionally Mrs. Glyn furnished considerable comedy with her production and compared to the fate of Paul, the ups and downs of a Netherlands leading man are mere trifles.

Mrs. Glyn believes the production will create a sensation in America. It is probable it will.

LICKING

County Woman Who Fled From Wrath of Husband Gave Birth to Child Along Creek Bank.

Mt. Vernon, July 25.—A distressing story has come to light here, involving the Dunlap family, who recently moved here from Licking county. One night Dunlap came home drunk and abused his wife.

She escaped and ran down to the creek and hid in the bushes, where she was found by a neighbor shortly after she had given birth to a baby. She is in a serious condition.

The are lights is failing to burn these dark nights on East Summit street. The matter should receive attention from the light committee. The people of this street feel that they are entitled to light, as well as persons residing on other streets.

COL. JAS. KILBOURNE MAY MANAGE BRYAN CAMPAIGN

Denver, Col., July 25.—The sub-committee of eleven, chosen by the Democratic National committee, to meet in Chicago today to elect the officers who will guide the party in the coming campaign, have determined on their choice, and when they meet Bryan and Kern at the Auditorium they will, according to advices received yesterday by a national committee-man still in Denver, choose James Kilbourne, of Columbus, Ohio, as National Chairman, and Urey Woodson of Kentucky, to succeed himself as secretary, if he will accept.

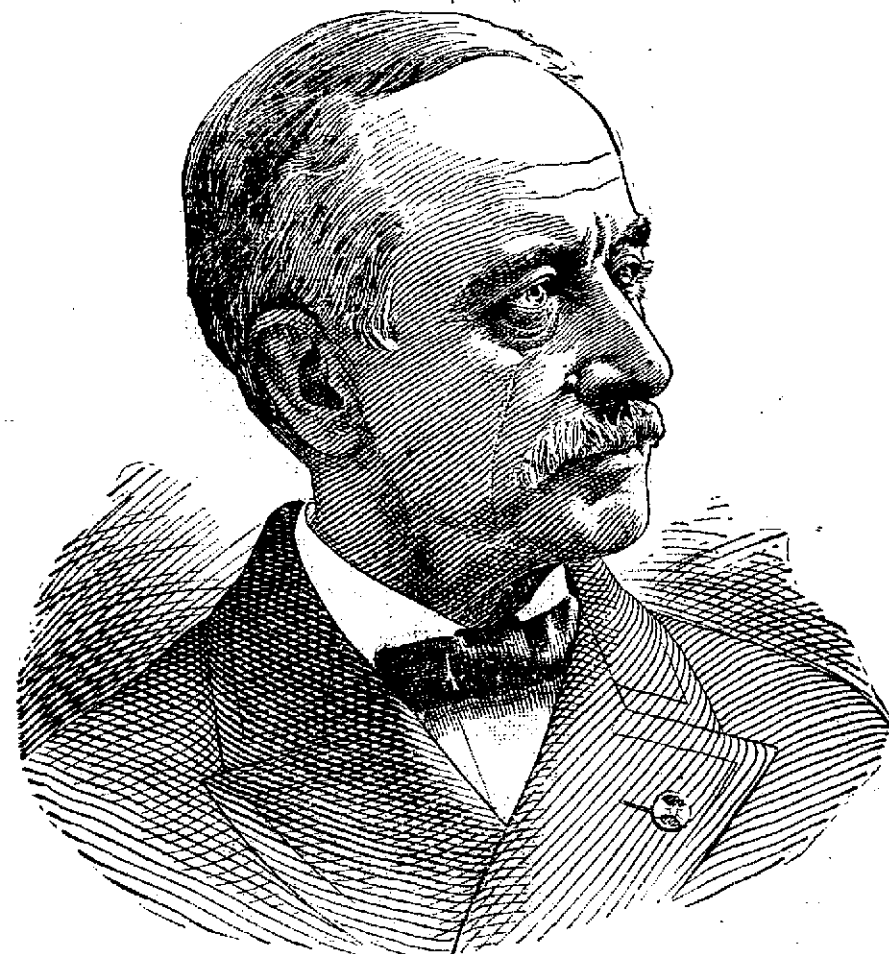

The selection of Kilbourne came after the committee members had made by Bryan relative to the change in the editorial staff of the paper:

"My candidacy makes it necessary for me to suspend editorial work, and I desire to have it known that I will not be personally responsible for matter appearing in the Commoner during the campaign except that which appears over my signature.

"My brother, Charles W. Bryan, who has had charge of the publication since its establishment, will assume control until November, and Associate Editor Richard T. Metcalf during that time will be editor.

"The Commoner will publish such a thorough canvass of the men whose names had been suggested prior to the meeting at Lincoln and discussed the fitness of the various possible candidates. At that time, John A. Atwood, of Kansas; John E. Lamb, of Indiana; and James Kerr, of Pennsylvania, seemed to be in the lead.

The possible benefits to be derived from the naming of any of these was considered and then new material was sought and Kilbourne was chosen.

BY THE COMMITTEE

The National Officers Will Be Named
Said Bryan in Interview Yesterday.

Omaha, Neb., July 25.—William J. Bryan, who was in Omaha a few minutes last night, refused to make any comment on the declaration of Governor Douglas, of Massachusetts, declining to accept the Chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee.

"Saturday will tell the tale probably," said Mr. Bryan. "I cannot say anything in advance. The chairman and other officers will be selected by the sub-committee, not by me."

Mr. Bryan, at the station, mounted a baggage truck and made a short speech, in which he said that the Democratic party is more reunited than ever and the Republican party more divided.

Lincoln, July 25.—William J. Bryan has retired from active work on the Commoner and will not be personally responsible for the matter appearing in it during the present campaign. Charles W. Bryan will be the publisher and Richard L. Metcalf, the editor, during the campaign.

The following statement was issued

WILLEY FAMILY NOT IN WANT AS WAS REPORTED YESTERDAY

On further investigation of the report published, Friday, regarding the family of W. T. Willey, living near Wilkins Run, it has been learned that the basest deception has been practiced upon the Advocate and a most regrettable reflection cast upon one of Madison township's most respected families.

Friday afternoon at a late hour the Advocate received a telephone message, purporting to come from the Wilkins Run neighborhood, stating that Mr. Willey had deserted his wife and seven children and that they were in a serious condition from lack of food and proper care. The Advocate's informant was so positive in his statement and recited his story seemingly so accurately as to details, that the story was printed as authentic. The lateness of the hour prevented further investigation, and the story was used.

Saturday, Mrs. Willey informed this paper that the report was a base, malicious falsehood, probably constructed by some enemy of the family for no other purpose than to cast a reflection upon them. She stated that Mr. Willey had not deserted her but had gone to a farm near Granville to work in the hay fields. She further said that none of her children or her children had been ill since one of the children had a slight attack of the whooping cough, three months ago. And as to the family starving, the report was wholly false, as they were provided with plenty at all times.

The Advocate always makes it a practice to completely verify reports of this nature, and that such a contemptible trick should have been played upon the paper as well as the Willey family, is deeply regretted and will be properly punished if ever repeated.

WILL FIGHT THE FREIGHT ADVANCE

Texas Railroad Commission Will Make Effort to Prevent Action of Railroads.

Galveston, Texas, July 25.—Steps are being taken by the Texas railroad commission to fight any attempt to inaugurate a general advance in freight rates. Commercial and shipping interests which appealed to the commission following the reports of contemplated advances have been assured everything possible will be done to keep rates at the highest level. Injunctions will be secured against advances on shipments within the state. It is expected the commissions of Louisiana, Arkansas, Kansas, Texas and perhaps two or three other states will join in a fight to prevent increases in inter-state rates.

Newport, R. I., July 25.—It is reported in naval circles here that Rear Admiral Richard Wainwright will take command of the battleship fleet when it returns to the Atlantic. The report has it that Admiral Sperry, after bringing the ships back, would be assigned to other duties, and Wainwright is most likely to be his successor.

Berlin, July 25.—The Turkish veil, which for ages has hidden the traditional beauty of Turkish women, has been torn away in the wreck of the old regime and today, according to dispatches received from Turkey, thousands of unveiled women are parading the streets, rejoicing in their new found freedom. This is the most remarkable feature of the political upheaval in Turkey which has just resulted in the granting of a constitution by the Sultan. The command of the Korean that women should appear veiled in public was cancelled by a Moslem priest, who issued his proclamation from the Mosque. "We will help to make the world beautiful by this act," the priest declared.

TOO LONG

In Power, Says Richard, Croker, of Republicans—Tammany Hall
Leader May Return.

New York, July 25.—Richard Croker, the old time leader of Tammany Hall, is to return to New York this fall, according to a special to the New York World of yesterday. While denying that he would take active part in the campaign for William J. Bryan, Mr. Croker said that he hoped the Nebraska would win and thought his chances good. It was while watching his men making hay in Glen Cairn, his Irish home that Mr. Croker was interviewed. He was shown a picture in a Dublin paper labelled "the peerless one."

"So it's done!" he said. "Well, Bryan is a good man and the old party ought to win, but who's this man Kern?"

"Oh," he continued, "I suppose I'll find a lot of strange names when I get back again. He's from Indiana, is he? Well, can he land the state? Yes? The Republican party has been in power too long. It's time they were getting out."

JUDGE BRISTER RETURNED HOME

Finds Bryan's Nomination is Meeting With Enthusiastic Support in the West.

Judge E. M. P. Brister returned home Friday after three weeks' visit in Colorado and Minnesota. While at Denver the judge attended the Democratic national convention, and went sight-seeing in the Rockies. At Denver Judge Brister was the guest of his old college class mate, Dr. C. S. Devitt, formerly of Granville, whom he had not seen since he graduated 31 years ago. Mr. Devitt is one of the prosperous and highly respected citizens of Denver and occupies a highly lucrative position there, and he and his estimable wife proved most delightful entertainers. On his way home the judge made a short visit with his cousin, W. R. Putnam and family, of Rushford, Minn. He had a very delightful time and found that the nomination of Bryan and Kern is meeting with enthusiastic support throughout the entire west.

ALLEN J. BEACH

Mt. Vernon, July 25.—Allen J. Beach, former sheriff of Knox county, dropped dead at noon today of apoplexy. He was a life-long Democrat. He represented Knox county in the legislature in 1879, and was sergeant-at-arms in the house for two years.

NEWARK YOUNG MEN RESCUE GIRL FROM WATERY GRAVE

Messrs. Graham and Hale on Vacation Trip Jump
Into Water at Cleveland and Save Daughter of Wealthy Shipper---Will be Rewarded.

(Special to the Advocate.)

Cleveland, July 25.—Dashing madly into the whirling waters of the reservoir of the shoot-the-chutes at White City park last evening at the risk of their lives, H. D. Hale and L. G. Graham, two Newark, Ohio, newspaper men, are being lauded all over the city for the daring rescue from drowning of Miss Gertrude Walsh, the daughter of a wealthy local shipper.

The young men, who came into Cleveland from Detroit last evening, were on a vacation trip about the lakes, and their heroism is adding an eventful feature to their trip that they will doubtless hear much from in the future.

Miss Walsh, although suffering much from the shock to her nerves, is not believed to be in a dangerous condition, while the rescuers, aside from a severe nervous strain, are noting no ill effects from their plunge into the eighteen feet of water at the "chutes."

Miss Walsh was on one of the coasters with a party of five of her friends, riding down the incline, when she lost her hold on the rail and fell into the water, just as the huge coaster was slipping over the surface at a high speed. Her companions were unable to aid her, as their craft had speeded a hundred feet beyond her before anyone of the party could realize what had happened.

Hale, one of the rescuers, had been watching the sport from the edge of the reservoir, and with more presence of mind than the rest of the horrified spectators, threw off his coat, and plunged boldly over the guard rail into the water, just as the young woman arose for the first time. He swam rapidly to her side and barely succeeded in dragging her through the water out of the way of another coaster which had left the top of the incline and was speeding down upon them.

Spectators were applauding the work of the heroic rescuer, when, as the man swam toward the shore of the lakelet, he passed too close to one of the supports of the incline, extending out under the water. His clothing was caught and he was compelled to release his hold on the young woman in order to free himself. It was at this juncture that his companion, Graham, who had been shouting instructions from the bank, also plunged into the water, grasped the frantic young woman and swam to shore with her, returning for Hale. The latter had, however, succeeded in freeing himself and swam safely to shore.

A doctor was hurriedly summoned and administered to Miss Walsh, who was later taken to her home, at 1508 Euclid avenue. The men who saved her were given every attention, and within a short time were able to leave the park. They were escorted to their car by a crowd of enthusiastic people, showering them with congratulations.

J. M. Walsh, father of the young woman, arrived at White City a half hour after the rescue in search of the heroic young men, and is determined to reward them for their heroism in saving his daughter's life at the risk of their own.

A number of the spectators expressed their determination to bring the matter to the attention of the trustees of the Great Lakes Life Saver's Fund, and although the rescue was not on the lake, it is believed that at least medals of appreciation will be readily presented by the trustees, according to former custom.

Samuel Gompers does not pretend to control any labor vote except his own, but it is becoming more and more evident that the workmen this year do not need advice from any quarter as to the propriety of voting the Democratic ticket. The Republicans advised workmen the last two Presidential campaigns to vote for the full dinner pail, but after getting the workmen's votes they proceeded to kick over the full dinner pail and it is now empty. Hence, workmen need no more advice from the men who have misled and betrayed them.

The Roosevelt deficit for this month passed the $20,000,000 mark Thursday. This is nearly double the deficit for the same period last year and the year before, and this is also the last year of Mr. Roosevelt's Administration.

Republicans claim that the Mormon vote will go for Taft. Well, Republicans seated the Mormon apostle Reed Smoot in the United States Senate despite the protests of churches, eminent women and the moral decency of the country. Ever since that shameful result the Mormon vote has been a Republican asset.

Mr. Taft went to Oster Bay to submit his speech of acceptance of the Republican Presidential nomination to Roosevelt. As Taft's nomination was made at the absolute dictation of Roosevelt, it followed that his speech of acceptance had to be submitted for Roosevelt's approval.

Mr. Taft's Declaration of Dependence.

(New York World.)
Mr. Taft's public submission to Roosevelt, as shown in his visit to Oyster Bay, is a melancholy Declaration of Independence. Mr. Taft's excuse was that "I have the highest regard for the President's judgment and a keen appreciation of his wonderful ability for forceful expression. I want his judgment and his criticism."
This journey is certain to hurt Mr. Taft with thousands of intelligent, thinking, independent citizens who are disgusted with the excesses of Rooseveltism, and who regard the question of Mr. Taft's moral courage and determination to act upon his own conscience rather than according to Mr. Roosevelt's wishes as the real test of his fitness for the Presidency.
For a candidate of William H. Taft's character, ability, learning and administrative experience this was a humiliating pilgrimage.

Chadwick's Choice.
By JANET GREGG.

Copyrighted 1908 by Associated Literary Press.

After ten years of tined bacon and salt pork the pendulum swung to its opposite extreme for David Chadwick. The goddess of fortune, whom he had long wooed in vain, now turned her face with truly feminine caprice from bacon and corn bread Dave had been advanced almost overnight to a New York hotel, where his day's board would have bought him a month during his prospecting period. And still Dave was not satisfied. He did not like what he termed "fussy" foods, and the very length of the bill of fare deprived him of his appetite. Then it was that Nell Horton came as an angel of deliverance and led him to her home in the suburbs, where Dave devoured all that was put before him and rejoiced in the absence of a bill of fare.
"I don't suppose that this modest meal will appeal to you," said Nell with ostentatious modesty. "We are plain people out here, and after your grand hotel it must seem skimpy, but when I saw you on the avenue I said to myself, 'I'll bet that's Dave Chadwick, and I'm going to ask him home, no matter what he may think.' You haven't changed a mite, Dave, since you left Lawrence."
Now, it is pleasant for a man who realizes that he is beginning to look old to be told that he does not differ in appearance after fifteen years, and for the first time Dave decided that Nell was looking remarkably young herself. He could not know that Nell had carefully studied the numerous pictures of the new Croesus in the newspapers and had haunted the vicinity of his hotel for days before she had encountered him, apparently by chance, in front of the place.
The Hortons had known Dave in his early life, before he had gone west to seek and eventually find fortune. When the papers had taken up the newly made multimillionaire, as the week before they had taken up the newly born baby elephant of the circus, Nell had read all the stories and had determined that Dave and his millions should become her property.
"He always was a dumb fool," she told her mother. "If we can get hold of him before the others do I'll be married to him before the end of the month. Did you see what the paper said the other day about his cooking bacon in his room and getting the halls all smells? He's sick of the French stuff the hotels all have, and there is no one to give him what he wants because he does not know where to look for it. We'll have him over here to dinner, and—well, he'll want to come again."

"LOOK ME STRAIGHT IN THE FACE AND SAY THAT AGAIN."

Mrs. Horton had nodded approvingly upon her well preserved daughter, and so the campaign was begun.
They were fortunate in the possession of a dependent relative. The Hortons had an income, small, but assured, and when Cleon Blake had died penniless they had permitted his daughter, Dora, to enter their household nominally as a member of the family, but in reality as a superior cook.
It was she who had cooked the dinner which had so pleased Chadwick and which brought him frequently to the little house. The men who were promoting his syndicate insisted that he must not remove from the hotel to a boarding house where his simpler needs could be suited, and it was only at the Hortons' that he could escape that terrible menu card, with its restaurant French and its overrich sauces.
He did not always want steaks and roasts, and the knowledge that there were good things on the bill which he could not translate only added to his dissatisfaction.
It was after an especially trying meal at the hotel that Dave armed himself with a box of violets and sallied forth to propose to Nell. He had slowly come to the conclusion that Nell was no longer as young as she pretended to be, but she offered escape from the hotel, and he was sick of the place—sick of its cuisine, its grinning bellboys, its servile waiters and its arrogant clerks.
His business sponsors at least could not object if he married and established a home for himself.

It was a long trip uptown, and much of his courage had oozed away when at last he found himself on the Hortons' stoop. He was rather glad that the maid came to the door. It was a certain sign that Nell was not home, else she would have rushed to the door with ostentatious welcome. This little maid he decidedly approved of.
"They will be back in an hour," said the girl. "They have only gone downtown on a shopping tour, and they will be so sorry to have missed you. Won't you wait?"
Chadwick hesitated and was lost. He went into the little parlor and picked out the most comfortable chair. The girl paused at the door.
"Can I get you anything before I go," she asked solicitously. "The morning paper is upstairs. I can get it in a moment."
"I'd rather talk," said Chadwick comfortably. He was hungry for congenial companionship, and the little maid was very different from Nell. Sometimes Dave grew a little tired of Nell and her bold flattery.
"I can't stop," cried the girl. "It is baking day, and I have the oven full."
"When Miss Horton does all the cooking?" reminded Chadwick. "I shall have to investigate."
He had been so frequent a caller that he knew from which door Nell was accustomed to put in an appearance, her sleeves rolled up and an adorable dab of flour on her saucy chin. Ignoring the frightened protests of the little maid, he pushed his way into the kitchen.
In her embarrassment Dora had forgotten that Nell had claimed the cookery for her own and that upon this talent she had counted for the winning of Chadwick. Now that the cat was out of the bag the probabilities were that Nell would turn her cousin into the street. She inherited a shrewish temper from her mother, and Dora knew that the two women would be implacable.
Chadwick sniffed the spicy odors and turned to the girl.
"So you are the fairy of the kitchen?" he said.
"Nell does all the work. I just watch the things when she goes downtown," denied Dora hastily.
Chadwick put one finger under the dimpled chin and raised the face that he might look straight into the gray eyes.
"Look me straight in the face and say that again," he commanded.
The long lashes fell over the troubled eyes as Dora struggled to make her denial convincing. Chadwick laughed.
"Look here," he said as he released her chin. "I came out here today to ask the hand of the woman who had made me comfortable. It is not that I cared so much about what I had to eat. It is not that I can get a dinner here without having to fight three waiters and the maitre d'hotel. That wasn't what appealed to me, though they do say that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. That sounds funny, but really a man doesn't marry just a cook."
"I wanted the woman who of all the million people in this big town cared enough for old friendship to come and rescue me from the maitre and the menu. It wasn't just the idea of dinner, but the home. I want a home of my own, and I wanted her to run it for me. But it seems that she did not tell the truth about the cooking. I guess the rest of it is pretty much of the same piece of goods, and it won't stand the wash. It's you I want, little woman, not because you can cook—I don't know just what it is, but I want you."
"You slip on your hat, and we can run down to city hall and get a license and a wedding certificate in no time at all."
"Why, you don't even know my name," cried the startled girl.
"I can guess," was the prompt reply. "I'm not so forgetful of the man who gave me my first start as not to be able to trace his likeness in Cleon Blake's daughter. They told me that they did not know where you were, and today when I recognized you it was that which first suggested the falsehoods they have been telling and led me to investigate the kitchen. We can pay them back for their food. They'll be content so long as they get a lot of presents. Will you come, Dora?"
Something in his tones appealed to the girl, and she looked into the eager eyes that searched her blushing face. She had been sorry for Chadwick, and pity is akin to love. He read his answer in her eyes, and a great light of gladness came into his own as he bent and reverently kissed the tip of the dainty ear, for her face was hidden against his strong shoulder.

Schools For Animals.
"You never heard of schools for animals?" Well, that shows your ignorance," said the professor.
"There is an elephants' school in Siam," said he. "Young elephants are taught in it to take up and carry in their trunks great teakwood logs—no easy task, for the logs require delicate balancing. They are taught to kneel, to answer to the various strokes of the ankus, or goad, and, like saddle horses, they learn several gaits. Pigs' schools abound the world over. There are schools for white mice, for monkeys, for song birds, not to mention the famous phonograph school for teaching parrots to talk that is the pride of Philadelphia. The big dealers in wild animals usually run small schools where lions, tigers, bears and leopards are taught simple tricks. Such schools are very profitable. Where an untamed lion, salable only to zoos or menageries, fetches but $250 or so, a broken one will easily fetch double."

SOCIETY

Captain and Mrs. S. K. Hayes have as their guests at Idlewild, Miss Gretchen Moore and Miss Grace McFerson of Mansfield.

Mrs. Augusta Chambers entertained Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gillette and Mr. and Mrs. Barrett of West Point, New York, at dinner Wednesday evening.

Misses Margaret Kiely, Bertha Williams, Beatrice and Nora Costello, Nell Kearns and Irene Cosgrove, Messrs. Jack Kiely, Albert Grelick and Don Marion, spent Sunday at "Camp Welcome," Picnic Rock last Sunday.

A delightful day was spent at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James Leech, five miles south of Newark. Those present were: Mr. Wordsworth Gard and bride, Mr. C. C. Phillips and bride, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Phillips, and Mrs. M. E. Smith. All enjoyed the day together, and did justice to a four course dinner.

Monday morning will find another camping party at Buckeye Lake. A number of young people, chaperoned by Mrs. B. F. Hines, will occupy the Irwin cottage for a week or ten days. Those composing the party are: Misses Evans, Hazel Helm, Helen Bell, Florence Hines and Lois Hines.

The Monday Sewing club was entertained this week at the home of Mrs. Edward King in North Second street. A most enjoyable, as well as profitable afternoon was spent with the needle and at the close of the afternoon tempting refreshments were served. Mrs. Harrington Davis, Misses Ruby Jones and Mame Smucker were guests of the club.

Mrs. Roy Coble of 28 Shields street, was pleasantly surprised Thursday evening, when a number of neighbors took possession of her porch and decorated themselves there for the evening, the occasion being Mrs. Coble's birthday. A delightful evening was spent by all present, and after serving light refreshments the party left for their various homes, wishing Mrs. Coble many happy returns of the day.

The Ladies Aid society of the Christian Union church held their annual outing Thursday at Olentangy Park, Columbus. The day was enjoyed by all present. The Temple of Mirth was pronounced a great success. Their next annual outing will be held at Zanesville.

The members present were: Messdames Burd, Anderson, Fristoe, Markin, Neibling, Evans, Yantz, Swartz, Misses Elizabeth Yantz and Daisy Evans. The guests of the Aid were Mrs. Howard Boler, Mrs. Barroway and daughter Leon.

Thursday afternoon the Harmonious club held an enjoyable meeting at the country home of Mrs. George Adams on the club day. The afternoon was spent in the usual game, at the close of which the trophies were awarded Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Harlowe. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

The guests of the club were: Mr. and Mrs. Lester Parr, Mrs. A. W. Claggett and Miss Rachel Burch. Next meeting will be with Mrs. Burch at her home, 551 North Fourth street on Wednesday afternoon, August 5th.

At the Sherwood on Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gillett entertained with euchre in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barrett of West Point. The evening was pleasantly spent, Miss Clara Scott carrying off first prize, while Mrs. Barrett was not so fortunate. At the close of the game a very elaborate course dinner was served in the dining room.

Those enjoying the pleasures of the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barrett of West Point, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Rugg, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesson, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. Channing Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mazy, Dr. and Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Augusta Chambers, Miss Clara Scott and Dr. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. William Beaumont, who will leave for Zanesville in a few days, where they will make their future home, were agreeably surprised on Thursday evening by their friends and neighbors.

Dainty refreshments were served, after the pleasures of the evening, Mr. Pierson, in behalf of the guests present, presented Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont with a beautiful vase.

Those who called to say good-bye and extend their best wishes, were Messrs. and Mesdames Arthur, Taylor, Clyde Blinn, Charles Root, Edward McDonald, James McGough, Fred Richards, Tom Ferry, Charles Osburn, John McInturf, Charles Osburn, Frank McIndur, Arthur Kennedy, John Rugg, Thomas Rugg, Charles Williams, William Pierson, Roe Emerson, Mrs. Rhoda Anderson, Mrs. Catharine Wolverson, Mrs. Lewis Maurath, Mrs. Patterson, Misses Eva Gram, Edna Swanson, Lois Brown, Louie Brown, Bertha Patterson, Ruth Williams, Messrs. John Ferry, Paul Ferry, Charles Dunn, Howard Stambarger, Duhan Pieter, Fred Wolverson, Lee Williams, Lester Handel, Bernard Maurath and Willis Handel.

The Norpell bungalow on Lover's Lane, was the scene of a pretty affair on Monday when Miss Louise Norpell entertained with a house party.

Those enjoying Miss Norpell's hospitality were: Misses Thursa Gay, Clara Hukill and Frances Wright, Messrs. Roy James, Charles Kibler, Edward Kibler and Max Norpell.

Miss Helen Redman and Mr. Roy James were guests at a more than delightful dance, given by the Phi Sigma Chi fraternity in the Auditorium in Coshocton fair grounds, on last Wednesday evening. Over one hundred enthusiastic young people were there to make merry, and all declare it one of the funniest of their lives. Music was furnished by Wright's orchestra.

The Sorosis Embroidery club was entertained by Mrs. J. W. Shaw at 184 Monroe street, Friday, July 24th. Elegant refreshments were served and the following officers elected: Mrs. C. S. Ford, president; Mrs. A. B. Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Williams, secretary; Mrs. J. W. Shaw and Mrs. W. A. Reel, instructors.

The invited guests were: Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. Kuninger, Mrs. Gamble, Miss Helen Thompson.

On Tuesday afternoon, at the home of her grandmother, on Pearl street, Miss Mary Nichols entertained in honor of her house guests, Miss Margaret Barriere and Miss Madge Evans of Hillsboro, O. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in sewing and at 5 o'clock dainty refreshments were served.

Those who partook of the pleasures of the afternoon were: Misses Evans, Barriere, Anna Davis, Kate Vance, Bernice Hatch, Ethel Woodward, Mabel Jones, Louise Norpell, Ruth Allen, Ruth Miller, Corinne Miller, Faith Roe, Florence Hersherber, Alice Beckman, Mary Owen, Pearl Mercer, Mary Louise Rank, Anna Sprague, Edythe Hall, Helen Gantzer, Nellie Jones, Addie Jones, Marguerite Matticks, Spray Douce, Alice Barker, Vera Nichols, Mrs. John Long and Mrs. Mary Nichols.

The Hermance cottage on Beach Island, Buckeye Lake, was a merry place when visited on Wednesday afternoon by a party of fun-loving picnickers. The pleasures of the lake were indulged in until six o'clock, when the party repaired to the cottage, where an elegant dinner was prepared for them. In the evening the amusements of the park received due attention and not until the cup of pleasure had been drained did they leave the car for home.

Those in the party were: Thursa Gay, Clara Hukill, Grace Fulton, Marion Ogden, Frances Wright, Sarah Seymour, Marjory Collins, Clara Funk, Adelaide Cook of Granville, Messrs. Manning, Duane Fulton, George Upton, Lewis Mitchell, Clarence Heisey, Carl Hermann, Charles Kibler, Edward Kibler, Adelbert Conley and Frederick Wright.

Mrs. William Boner and daughters, Miss Julia Boner and Mrs. S. B. Besse of Summit street, entertained a number of their friends Wednesday at a twelve o'clock dinner. At the pleasant Boner homestead south of the city. The honor guest was Miss Mary Hillman, who will soon leave for Korea, where she will resume her mission work.

The guests present were: Miss Hillman, Mrs. Phoebe Hillman, Mrs. Francis Criswell, Mrs. John Lawry, Mrs. Dillen Dicken, Mrs. E. Cary Norris, Mrs. E. S. Randolph, Mrs. Arthur Taylor, Mrs. John Sachs, Mrs. G. B. Loudin, Mrs. Benjamin Hendricks, Mrs. Samuel Sachs, Misses Celia Glick, Grace Dicken, Mary Dicken, Mary Fulton, Mrs. S. E. Swartz of Wichita, Kansas, Mrs. Henry Amos of Cambridge, Miss Nan Ashton of South Bend, Ind., Miss Nettie Giescock of Summit, Little Julia Besse, Summit, Masters Clara Taylor, Byron Besse, John William Amos and Prof. Green of Lafayette, Ind.

On Wednesday of this week at her home on Kibler avenue, Mrs. Julian Long entertained in honor of Miss Margaret Barriere and Miss Madge Evans of Hillsboro. The amusement of the afternoon was progressive pedro. The parlor, where the card tables were arranged, presented a pretty appearance with their decorations of the many colored nasturtiums and trailing vines. At the close of a spirited contest dainty prizes were awarded Miss Wooster and Miss Nellie Jones.

At five o'clock the hostess served her guests with a delicious three-course dinner, which was enjoyed by Miss Madge Evans, Miss Margaret Barriere of Hillsboro, Miss Young and Miss Wooster of Columbus, and Misses Edythe Hall, Lillian Rugg, Marguerite Matticks, Mabel Jones, Mary Owen, Kate Vance, Nellie Jones, Alice Beckman, Addie Jones, Spray Douce, Faith Roe, Mary Hammond, Vera Nichols and Mary Nichols.

Miss Helen Ingman at her home at 199 West Main street, entertained the Eta Delta club with a lawn party, Tuesday afternoon, in honor of her guest, Miss Blanche Davis of Baltimore, Md. The club members present were: Misses Rosetta Evans, Florence Hines, Sue Tafel, Mary Swingle, Maple Shup, Ruth Rickert, Edna Wagenheim and Grace Benner. Miss Alice McMann was also a guest of the club.

Mrs. Ida Chase, Mrs. Jud Lewis and Miss Margaret Wallace chaperoned one of the merriest house parties of the season this past week. Buckeye Lake has many pleasures and this gay party tasted of all.

Those who comprised the party were Misses Mary Hillard, Helen Chase, Lenora Phillips, Louise Elliott, Leoline Moore, Mary Pollett, Mary Mahtone Ruth Wintermute, Grace Wilson, Hannah Sullivan, and Miss Margaret Harris of Utica.

During their stay at the lake they had many drop in guests, but some there were, who loved pleasure well enough to linger a little longer, these being Misses Kathryn Sedgwick, Anna Sprague, Corinne Miller, Elizabeth Zone, Eleanor Beecher, Mrs. Jesse Elliott, Mrs. P. S. Phillips and Mrs. Fred Wilson. After spending a week of one-round of pleasure the young people returned home this morning, looking much refreshed by the lake breezes.

Miss Fay Emery entertained with a six o'clock dinner Tuesday evening at her home on Grove street, in honor of her guests Louella, daughter of Rev. T. W. Locke, former pastor of the East Main street Methodist church. In the afternoon the guests were met at the car with a hay wagon, and after enjoying a short ride, were driven to the Emery home, where out-of-door games were indulged in until the dinner hour. After which, some time was spent in conversation and music, the guests then returning home on the hay wagon. A most pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Those present were: Misses Gladys Lock of Washington C. H., O., Jessie Singleton, Mildred Gore, Florence Hazelton, Esther Montgomery, Gladys Smith, Pearl Schwegler, Minnie Schwegler and Sara Walker.

The Messrs. Emma and Mayme Linke of 44 Germania street and Miss Clara Vogelmeier of 81 South Fourth street, left for a pleasure trip to Cedar Point and the lakes Saturday morning. They expect to remain until Monday.

Avondale boats leave the pier at Buckeye Lake every hour, passing the floating islands and land you where you can get a good dinner or supper.

THE CANAL TALK

Now that the water is off the canal, we observe the filth at the bottom of it and are greatly exercised about it. So it is with many evils. Knowing them to be present, still we are complacent so long as we can avoid the sight of them. The contamination of our wells and reservoirs we cannot see, so we go on filling our systems with drainage and think our systems of curing piles, which had troubled me for years, and that yielded to no other treatment." THE HYPNOTIC EYE

And the Man Who Likes to Test It on the Circus Animals.

The man who wants to test the power of the human eye on savage beasts is legion, and he affords no end of amusement for the attendants at the circus, who are always on the lookout for him. Often he may be detected standing before the cage of a lion, gazing intently straight into the eyes of the dignified old beast, who gazes back with indifference and feels shifts his eyes, not because he really any mystic influence, but because something else has attracted his attention.

A story is told of a man who tried the hypnotic trick on an ostrich. At first the bird croaked down and fluttered his wings nervously, but made no other manifestation for some time. A few hours later the body of the man was found, with the huge bird alternately stamping and sitting on it. Another is told of a man who tried to outgaze a leopard, with the result that the animal made a fierce charge against the bars of his cage and at the man, and the two created a disturbance that brought the attendants hurrying to investigate the trouble. Hard Lines For Bachelors.

"Korea's the wrong place for bachelors," said a traveler. "Bachelors in Korea are considered as children and have only children's privileges. You, a Korean bachelor, get thirsty. You enter a rest house and call for palm wine. The pretty little amber colored waitress says: "Married?" "No," says you. "Heraus then," says she, and out you go, unasked.

"You want to vote, but they won't let you if you are not married. "You apply for a job somewhere. 'How many children have you?' is the first question you are asked. And as soon as you say you're unmarried they laugh in your face to think that you should presume to apply for work anywhere."—New York Press.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio:

Section 1. A proposition shall be submitted to the electors of this state at the next election for members of the general assembly, to amend the constitution of the state of Ohio so that sections 18 to 32, both inclusive, of article II, shall be respectively numbered as sections 19 to 33; and sections 16 and 18 of such article be so amended as to read as follows:

ARTICLE II.
Section 1. This amendment shall take effect on the day of its adoption.

Section 2. Every bill shall be fully and distinctly read on three separate days, unless in case of urgency, three-fourths of the members elected to the house in which it shall be pending, shall dispense with this rule, but no bill or a bill on its final passage shall in no case be dispensed with. No bill shall contain more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title; and no law shall be revived or amended unless the new act contain the entire act revived, or the section or sections amended; and the section or sections amended shall be repealed.

Sec. 18. Every bill passed by the general assembly shall, before it can become a law, be presented to the governor for his approval. If he approve it, he can (shall) sign it. If he do not approve it, he shall send it with his objections in writing, to the house in which it originated which may then reconsider the vote on its passage. If two-thirds of the members elected to that house then agree to re-pass the bill, it shall be sent, with the objections of the governor, to the other house, which may also reconsider the vote on its passage. If two-thirds of the members elected to that house then agree to re-pass it, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the objections of the governor. If a bill shall not be returned by the governor within ten days, Sundays excepted, after being presented to him, it shall become a law, unless the general assembly by adjournment prevent its return; in which case, it shall become a law, on the day after such adjournment, it shall be filed by him, with his objections, in the office of the secretary of state. The governor may disapprove any item or items in any bill making an appropriation of money, and the item or items, so disapproved, shall be stricken therefrom, unless on the first day of January, A. D. 1909.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.

To Amend Section Two of Article Twelve of the Constitution of Ohio.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio:

Section 1. That a proposition shall be submitted to the electors of the state of Ohio, on the first day of January, A. D. 1909, to amend section two of article twelve of the constitution of the state of Ohio, so that it shall read as follows:

ARTICLE XII.
Finance and Taxation.
Sec. 2. The general assembly shall have power to establish and maintain an equitable system for raising state and local revenue. It may classify the subjects of taxation so far as their differences justify the same in order to secure a just return from each. All taxes and other charges shall be imposed for public purposes only and shall be just to each subject. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away. Bonds of the state of Ohio, of any city, village, hamlet, county or township in this state and bonds issued in behalf of the public schools of Ohio and the means of their collection in connection therewith, burying grounds, public school houses, houses used exclusively for public worship, institutions of purely public charity, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, and personal property, shall be exempt from taxation; but all such laws shall be subject to alteration or repeal; and the value of all property, so exempted, shall from time to time, be ascertained and published as may be directed by law.

Section 2. All taxes and exemptions in force when this amendment is adopted shall remain in force, in the same manner and to the same extent, unless and until otherwise directed by statute.

I, CARMY A. THOMPSON, Secretary of State of Ohio, do hereby certify that the foregoing is an exemplified copy, carefully compared by me with the original rolls now on file in this office, and in my official custody as Secretary of State, as required by the laws of the State of Ohio, of a Joint Resolution adopted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, on the 27th day of March, A. Tent Meeting.
In spite of the threatening weather a large crowd gathered at the tent last night and listened to a good sermon by the Rev. Sager Tryon on the subject, "How Not To Be Saved." His text was "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" Heb. 2:3. He emphasized the thought that while in most cases punishment was meted out for the commission of crime, in this case all that was necessary in order to insure the penalty was simply to neglect our soul's salvation. Come, without fail, this evening. We are to have another new speaker, one who has endeared himself to the hearts of all who have heard him in other evangelistic services. Preaching service at 7:30.

The annual Patterson-Boxwell commencement was held in the Disciple church, on North Fourth street, Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of the Licking County Board of School Examiners. Prof. Charles Lake, Prof. R. H. Nichols and Prof. C. W. Gunion. The number of graduates was 130 and the annual address was delivered by Probate Judge E. M. P. Brister.

HEAT IN FOOD PREPARATION.
High Degree Essential to Render Wheat Digestible.

So accustomed is civilized man to cooked foods that the important part played by heat in the preparation of food seldom occurs to one.

Most people if asked as to the purpose of heat in the preparation of food, would readily answer, to make it palatable.

Unbaked or uncooked food would doubtless be palatable enough, had our tastes not been formed by heredity and environment. But in the case of man's foods the application of heat to food also goes a long way in helping the stomach. A nutritive substance is not "easily a digestible one." The heat puts the food in condition to be easily assimilated—and this is highly necessary when the burden we daily place on our digestive systems is considered.

It is particularly true of wheat foods. Physiologists tell us that the inside of a loaf of bread never gets half enough heat to break up the granules of starch so the digestive juices can act on them. So much of the starch—which is 70 per cent of the wheat—never digests. It is insoluble. But notable improvement has been made in wheat food with an appreciation of the need of heat. The preparation of Malt-Flake, the widely used cereal, is an interesting example. For this food, the wheat is steam cooked for 6 hours—then dried. Then every berry is flaked so thin that the heat can act on every atom. The berries are then toasted for 30 minutes at 400 degrees.

This scientific process results in a food that is wholly digestible, and it would be pleasant to the taste without further treatment—but its palatability is increased by boiling the wheat with maple syrup.

FOUR TIMES IN TEN DAYS

HOUSE OF JOSEPH DAVIS, SOUTH OF NEWARK, HAS BEEN STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Yesterday's Storm Did Much Damage Throughout the County—No One Injured.

In the severe electric storm of Friday, lightning struck the residence of Joseph Davis, a farmer living eight miles south of the city, on two different occasions during the same storm. The unusual phenomenon occurred once before, during a storm a week ago last Tuesday, when the house was struck twice.

In the storm of July 14, Mrs. Davis was in the yard and, although stunned by the lightning, was not seriously hurt. She was upstairs, Friday, when the first bolt struck the house, and was stunned but experienced no particular injurious effects. The storm of Friday also did other damage throughout the county. A canopy of oil cloth over a threshing machine on the farm of John Stotler, a quarter of a mile east of Fleetown, was blown high in the air and carried over tree tops and telephone wires, landing in a potato patch 1200 feet from the machine.

THE TRUE TEST.

Tried in Newark, It Has Stood the Test.

The hardest test is the test of time, and Doan's Kidney Pills have stood it well in Newark. Kidney sufferers can hardly ask for stronger proof than the following:

C. L. Starr, 89 Hancock street, Newark, Ohio, says: "I have had no occasion to retract anything from the statement I made in 1904, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, as the cure they performed at that time has remained permanent. Prior to using this remedy I suffered for years from kidney complaint and backache and although I used numerous remedies, I was unable to obtain relief. I had a constant pain across my loins and if I attempted to stoop my suffering was greatly increased and if I sat in one position for any length of time, it was almost impossible for me to rise. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box at Crayton's drug store and was agreeably surprised at the quick way in which they disposed of my backache and improved my condition in every way. My wife seeing the benefit that I had obtained from the use of this remedy, began its use and obtained satisfactory results. I am always glad to say a few words in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills."

ZANESVILLE

IS GETTING READY FOR RURAL CARRIERS WHO WILL INVADE CITY AUG. 11.

Grand Program Being Arranged to Delight the Rural Carriers—River Ride on Muskingum.

The Licking County Rural Letter Carriers' Association will be represented at the sixth annual convention of the Ohio Rural Letter Carriers' Association, which will be held in Zanesville August 11, 12 and 13. A big time is expected and an exchange says preparations are going on apace, and already the amusement program is ready to be given out. The committees in charge are busily engaged in sending invitations to postmasters and others interested in the convention. It is expected that there will be more than 300 attend this meeting as delegates, and families and other visitors will swell the total considerably.

For the first time in the history of the association the postmasters of the whole state will be invited to be present. The county postmasters have already been invited. The invitations will be printed this week and mailed by next Monday. It is expected that most of the postmasters will accept the invitation so cordially extended.

A reception and smoker will be held Wednesday evening, August 12, at 7:30 o'clock and it is expected that this event will be attended by the largest crowd. The entire membership of the Muskingum County Rural Letter Carriers' association will be present, with the officials of the local postoffice, a special representative of the postmaster general and Congressman Dawes of this congressional district.

The convention will be the largest in the history of the organization and many interesting entertainment features have been prepared. Zanesville as a convention city, has frequently shown what she can do to entertain her visitors, and the press, the local carriers, the chamber of commerce and the citizens in general will do all in their power to make the affair as pleasant and successful as any heretofore. President W. B. Deacon of the chamber of commerce will probably deliver the welcoming address.

Among the entertainment features planned are a street railway ride to the factories and parks, an interurban ride to Powell's Mills, a theatre party by the press to the Orphanum, and a launch ride on the Muskingum river. This last feature will probably be the most entertaining of all. The trip will be made in launches from the Fifth street bridge to the new dam at Ellis station. It was intended at first to charter the steamer, Valley Gem, but it is not thought possible for a boat of her draught to make the trip as far as the dam. Men are now working night and day on this improvement and the sight will be really interesting to the visitors on their arrival.

REQUEST FOR LIGHT ON THE LINGAFELTER CASE

Editor Advocate:—Isn't it strange that all the newspaper reports affecting J. F. Lingafelter's condition, so little that is definite has been published? It is well known that three Newark physicians examined him, and that they made a report, but for some reason, not satisfactorily explained, this report has not been made public. Again, we are told that Dr. C. S. Hamilton, whose standing in this locality is without a peer, has made a report after three days' examination and this report, for some unexplained cause, is not published.

Why is it? Is there a plot on foot with certain officials and the physicians of the penitentiary, as the chief participants to have Lingafelter released, whether right or wrong?

Doesn't it seem puzzling that of five physicians who have examined Lingafelter, only one, and that the prison physician, pronounces his ailment serious?

The sum total of Dr. Hamilton's examination was that Lingafelter was suffering from a "break down." The people of Newark and Licking county are familiar with Lingafelter's "break down." He had one immediately following the receivership of the bank and building association, another when his trial was called in Mt. Vernon, again when the Supreme court affirmed the findings of the lower courts against him.

None of them proved serious, although the reports from his bedside then had the same sound that they do now.

Let us have a little light and not so much underground subterfuge work. Publish the reports and let us see how sick J. F. Lingafelter is. Let us see whether he should not be treated as other prisoners are treated. Let us see whether it is a comedy or a tragedy.

BUILD NOW

Lose No Time In Contracting for Work and Material—A Golden Opportunity to Save Money.

A characteristic of the American people is to get busy and quick when the time comes to go ahead. From all over the country comes the cry: "Build now." Those people who get busy and build now are the ones who are going to realize handsomely on their foresight. You will never have an opportunity so golden as the present time.

The reduction in the price of building materials is caused by the recent financial flurry, which affected the large mills and made it possible for dealers to buy at a price much lower than at any time in several years. This reduction means that about 25 per cent can be saved in cost of construction, both on material and labor, as it is now possible to secure better and more work for the same price than at any time within the last two years.

The lumber question is one that few people know much about, yet there is nothing so much used as lumber. It is the foundation of the wonderful building growth in this great country. For this reason it is as important to buy your lumber from a reliable lumber concern as your jewelry from a reliable jeweler. The Smith Lumber company, whose offices and yards are located at South Second street, just west of the Panhandle passenger station, have established an enviable reputation for lumber reliability. "Good lumber cheap, and cheap lumber that is good," is always assured their patrons, large or small.

The name of the Smith Lumber company is a familiar one among the builders of Newark and Licking county. No matter how large or small an order you desire to place, this company will give it prompt attention. They are connected with the largest lumber manufacturers over the country, from whom they are constantly receiving large shipments.
